AMERICAN WOODMARK™ CABINETS BRINGS A MODERN EDGE TO ITS CLASSIC Charlottesville™ COLLECTION

Butterscotch and Cream Painted Glazes on Maple Cabinetry Offer Bold Styling Options

WINCHESTER, Va. – Today’s most popular cabinetry styles take their visual cues and finish details from architectural elements in the home. American Woodmark cabinetry, available exclusively at The Home Depot, has responded to this consumer preference by offering its traditional and widely popular Charlottesville Maple door style in contemporary Butterscotch and Cream glazes.

The glaze is painted on a full-overlay, solid raised center panel door to showcase the fine detailing of both square and gently arched cathedral designs. Butterscotch and Cream glazes offer continuity between the kitchen and the rest of the home, allowing the kitchen to segue into the adjoining living space and complement any setting. Additionally, the elegant lines of the Charlottesville collection offer a custom look, meeting homeowners shifting preference for furniture design attributes in the kitchen.

“Architectural elements are in tremendous demand, as they offer beautiful, furniture-like styling,” says Dana Williamson, vice president, marketing, American Woodmark cabinetry. “The painted Butterscotch and Cream glazes represent a trend that we expect to gain more momentum and sustain longevity in kitchen design. The Charlottesville collection offers an elegant, custom look for homeowners, and the painted Maple takes it to an even more modern and sophisticated level.”
