PHOENIX, (Aug. 28, 2006) – Timberlake Cabinet Company™, a leading supplier of cabinetry to the new construction market, announced today that the Company's Phoenix Builder Service Center, which designs and installs kitchens in the Arizona market, will donate its 150,000th kitchen to Habitat for Humanity. "We are privileged to be a part of such a beneficial program," said Mike Leikam, general manager of Timberlake's Phoenix Builder Service Center. Cabinetry donations are second nature to Timberlake. The Company routinely gives back to its communities as evidenced by the recent donation of its 750,000th kitchen manufactured in its Kingman, Ariz. manufacturing plant to Housing America Corporation. In addition, Timberlake recently committed to donating two kitchens to Centex Corporation, who is also building several homes on behalf of Habitat for Humanity.

“We participate in as many of these opportunities as possible,” said Leikam. “The donation of our 150,000th kitchen in Phoenix to Habitat for Humanity coincides well with the opening of our new Builder Service Center, and furthers our commitment to serving the Phoenix community and builder market. Timberlake is a long-time member of the Phoenix community and we believe in giving back to those communities in which we live and work.”
