PRESIDENTIAL DECREE: MCKINLEY™ COLLECTION BY SHENANDOAH CABINETS® DECLARED
MASTERFUL AND MAJESTIC

New Miter Door Cabinets Provide Homeowners with Contemporary Elegance and Quality Craftsmanship

DES MOINES, Iowa (June 21, 2006) – For years, high-end Mitered doors have represented contemporary elegance and quality craftsmanship, but have only been available through custom cabinet manufacturers. This is true no more. In early 2006, Shenandoah Cabinetry®, Lowe's exclusive cabinetry manufacturer, introduced the Mitered door in the new McKinley™ Collection. The McKinley collection is part of Shenandoah's extensive range of cabinetry styles, providing a luxurious custom-look at an affordable price.

The beautifully fashioned, precise mitered cut accents the picture-frame artistry of this graceful style. Beading and Pillow elements on the door frame add a soft, simple elegance to the door, while the smooth, rounded edge on the raised center panel enhances the classic yet contemporary look. Each door has a full overlay design reinforced by high quality joinery. The blind mortise-and-tenon joint, one of the strongest and most used joints in woodworking, is used in this collection to keep the cabinets strong while allowing for a unified look. The 3-inch door frame is visually commanding, and the recessed solid drawer provides ample space for decorative hardware. The design is also ideal for glazed finishes, which enhances the detail and allows for high-end customization.

The variety of hardwoods and finishes offered in this collection helps to further customize the look. McKinley Cherry comes in Spice, Chocolate Glaze and Bordeaux, and McKinley Maple comes in Natural, Spice, Mocha Glaze, Coffee Glaze and Honey.

“Consumers want spaces that reflect their lifestyle and taste,” says Connie Edwards, director of design, Shenandoah cabinetry. “The McKinley collection gives creative design flexibility to homeowners, allowing them to create luxurious, living spaces that have charm, character and charisma.”

President Andrew Jackson used the kitchen to reflect his lifestyle, when he used to meet with a group of unofficial advisors in the White House Kitchen. He referred to them as his “Kitchen Cabinet,” thus resulting in the modern-day term, “presidential cabinet.” Kitchens have always been the center of the household and everyday living, and the McKinley collection provides a comfortable and luxurious atmosphere where ideas can flow freely, decisions can be made and nourishment can be provided.
